A SOUTHERNER ON STEAM ENGINES AND NIGGERS.

Mesers. Philips, Sampson & Co., says the Boston Journal, have received the following letter from one of the subscribers to the A lantic Monthly, in Louisiana. The monkey experiment is decidedly rich: ____, June 24, 1858.

"Messrs. Philips, Thompson & Co: "Gentlemen: In an article headed 'What we are going to make, in the last number of your magazine, the writer thinks that the mil-lenium for niggers is to be brought about by steem, on the ground that a bushil of coal fed to a steam engin will produce more power than a bushil of Injun corn fed to a nigger; and that the great improvement that is to take place in these engins in 50 or 100 years will enable us to navigate our cornfields, and plough as much cotton, with one critter of this sort, in the same length of time, and at a less expense, than with ten niggers; consequently, we will free the niggers as a nuisance, and take the engin instead. Now jest grant that what he says about plowin by steem should turn out true-and cotton could be grow'd in this way I gest want to ask him one question-When it comes to pickin out whar is his steem engin then? It takes fingers to do this sort of work, and no steem engine will ever be able to strike a lick like them. If we ever du plough by steem, which I won't deny mought be done, we'l turn our niggers into pickers-make more cotton and sell at a less price. He is what might might be called a speculative genius, like a feller who lives not far from here; he thought he'd make an improvement in picking, and then monkeys would be the very article. One monkey would pick as much as a nigger, and one nigger could oversee 10 monkeys. The monkeys was got and the trial made; the only mistake about it was, instead of one nigger managing 10 monkeys, it took 10 niggers to manage one monkey; so he has to giv up experimentin and sticks to the old way of gatherin the crop. Some one says that every man is crazy on some subject. Your man is crazy on steem but it is not exactly the right sort to elevate the idees. Tell bim to fire up and try agio. You will excuse me for saying that I think some of your articles is rather tu bifalutin on abolishen subjects. Respectfully, A SUBSCRIBER.

P. S .- Tell your breakfast-table man to go ahead -- he's one of em." Some of the senior members of the worthy

"Society of Friends, commonly called Quakers," who flourished in the generation now fast fading out, were oft-times witty and waggish, if not sometimes wiley and wicked. Friend Zephaniah Paddack, master and chief owner of the whaling brig Grampus, was one of the straitest, most buttonless, and drab-colored models of the sect of passive obedience and non-resistants. But his chief officer or mate belonged to the world's people, and in despite of frequent remonstrance would persist in the use of profane interjections. They were cruising near the Western Islands in the spring of 1813; and wishing to escape the visitation of a "long, low, blacksided schoon-er," Capt. P. very mildly desired a couple of hands to go aloft to perform some necessary operation upon the topsails. The men said nothing, but would not budge. Earnest entreaty and quiet reasoning could not move the delinquents. At length Zephaniah, turning to the mate, said, "Cousin Nathan, thee must talk to them in thy language." stantly the first officer gave forth a yell, with a fearful oath, and the men at once sprang to their duty, but too late to fulfil it in such a manner as to effect the desired who had upon the forecastle a favorite old swivel, burdened with a four-pound ball, was desperately preparing to bleze away at random; but his master stepped forward and side of Prince, gently remarked, "Maty, if I were going to point that shooting iron I would take that craft a little abaft the fore-chains." It was done: the shot told; and as the visiter wore off, Zephaniah waved his hand from the quarter-deck, saying, "Fare thee well-bope thee'll always strive to be peaceable."-Bos-

"I say, Jones, how is it that your wife dresses so magnificently, and you always appear out at the elbows?"

Jones (impressively and significantly)-"You see, Thompson, my wife dresses according to the Gazette of Fashion, and I dress according to my ledger!"

(Thompson smells a rat, and immediately tries to get his little account settled-and don't succeed.)-Punch.

A French engineer was travelling upon an old Ohio steamboat. He observed to the captain: But this engine is in a very bad condi-

"That's so," was the reply. "And how leng do you expect to run it?

"Till it bursts," was the cool reply. After the next landing place there was one Frenchman less on board that boat.

If the world does not grow better it is not for want of hanging. The papers have recorded an unusual number of executions lately, some of them very painful to read, all of them more or less shocking to good taste.

CAPITAL OVER $250,000, AND CONSTANTLY INCREASING. The charter of this Company offers more favorable advantages to the farmer and others. than any other company chartered in the Male by insuring with or without a premium note-If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay: or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the insured saves in one half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of THE CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE. This company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 16th of March, 1854, since which time over five thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over thirty thousand dollars have been paid for losses -Having trebled our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospects of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe that by prudence caution and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety, not surpassed by any Company in the U. States. All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened to be mytually chosen by the insured and the Company. DIRECTORS: nas, Christopher Neale, H. W. Thomas,
